This work has grown out of a six months' tour in India, just before the outhreak of the recent mutiny. The materials were principally derived from letter intended only for the perusal of the author's family. He has been induced to give his observations a more permanent form and a wider circulation, both on account of the interest which has been excited in the subject by the events of the last year, and because, considering the size and population of the Indian peninsula, its immense capabilities of production, and the important position it may hereafter hold in the economy and commerce of the world, it certainly has not hitherto attracted in this country its due share of attention.

NOTICES OF THE FIRST EDITION.

"I am much pleased with your work on the Law of Attachments. It is very creditable to you, and will be found a valuable acquisition to the profession. You have treated the subject with clearness and ability, and by your references you have ustained your views by the highest authorities."—Letter from Hon. John McLean, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

John McLean, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the linited States.

"It will speedily find its way into the hands of every lawyer in general practice upon its own intrinsic merits."

St. Louis Republican,
"No law book that has recently been given to the profession will be more generally useful. Mr. Drake has produced a treatiae which has long been needed. It is clear and copious, and embodies all the American and English authorities pertinent to the theme."
"A very complete epitome of American Law of Atta imment, arranged in a lucid method, and expressed in a very finished style. In a word, Mr. Drake has furnished a very good and much needed book."

"Mr. Drake's work supplies a place in the lawyer's library which has never before been filled. His style possesses far higher merit than belongs to the great majority of law books now publishing, either in this country or in Engand."

[New York Evening Post.
"Mr. Drake's work deserves the general attention and patronage of the profession."
